Aufgang Architects, LLC of Suffern Creates Advisory Team To Promote Energy Efficiency

Aufgang Architects, LLC, a Suffern-based architectural firm, has created a new team that provides building owners and developers with evaluations and recommendations to help them save money by improving systems and energy efficiency.

“Our new Building Systems Advisory Unit (BSAU) advises owners on their decision-making process to ensure a comprehensive approach to their increasingly complex systems design and engineering requirements,” said Ariel Aufgang, principal of Aufgang Architects.

Samuel J. LaMontanaro has been named Director of Engineering at our firm and will lead the BSAU. “He and his team have the experience and expertise to recommend new avenues and technologies to create more efficient and healthier building environments,” said Mr. Aufgang.
